PLAYING THE GAME

It is easy enough to be pleasant when the game glides by like a song;
But the "Kid" worth while is the one who can smile when everything goes dead wrong.

The foregoing is a bit of philosophy that applies much farther than in the conduct of athletic contests by school students and is indicative of the spirit in which the boy or girl will later on meet the trials and fortunes which life will bring.

The spirit of co-operation, of self effacement for the sake of the team work and the glory of Alma Mater, is an invaluable training in the life of the boy and girl which will carry over into later life and find expression in co-operative effort in behalf of civic welfare, etc.

A value of no inconsiderable importance also lies in the avocational side—equipment for the worthy use of leisure time in adult life. The boy and girl who makes such activities as tennis, volley ball, base ball, basket ball, etc., his or her own while in school will find a richer and more rounded life later on for it is a matter of statistical information that these games learned in school hold a most important place in the use of leisure time; and conversely that these games not learned in the formative school period never become equipment for the use of leisure of those unfortunate ones who have never learned to "play."

Local example of the value of these activities as a carry over for the worthy use of leisure has recently been furnished by the formation of the City Basket Ball League of Santa Cruz. Lodges, Commercial Organizations, the High School Alumnae, the High School, American Legion, Church Organizations, are all represented. The benefits of the exercise and the worthy expenditure of leisure time are apparent but the values reach out and include the wives, the families, the friends of these participants and they go to the games and mix with each other in friendly spirit to the benefit of themselves and their community. The newspapers, the Chamber of Commerce, the Lodges and such organizations, recognizing the values, support this activity.

For the student of the high school, the direct benefits of these games from the physical standpoint is readily apparent but the transcendent value is expressed in the couplet at the beginning of this article.

Just two weeks ago the girls of our own high school journeyed to Watsonville to try conclusions with the daughters of one of our full grown sister institutions. Thegirls entered the contest full of confidence and a burning desire to win. After a heart breaking thirty minutes of play the game ended with B.C.U.H.S. on the "short" end of a 21 to 9 score.

The girls had struggled hard during the contest to stem the certain defeat which was engulfing them but when the final score was announced they walked off the floor with smiles on their lips and a cheer for the victors and shortly after were seen mingling with their recent opponents in the most friendly intercourse at a luncheon tendered by their erstwhile "foes."

On the trip going home there were songs on their lips and occasional vows and expressions of confidence in the comeback they planned for the week following which was to cover their little Alma Mater with glory. They had made a mistake, they had somewhat overrated themselves and had underrated a worthy opponent. The only thing to do was to take it with a smile work hard and "come back."

Last Saturday on their own court, with their well wishers looking on, they left the floor at the end of thirty minutes of exciting play and with a smile on their lips and a cheer for their friends from Watsonville. Only this time they were on the "long end" of a flattering score. Was there any "crowing" and gloating? No! Only a pure joy of having fought the good fight and won handily on their merits. And this is what we want. This is what we are working for.

So much for our girls. What of our boys?

Last Saturday evening the local boys met the fast 135 pound team of the Santa Cruz High School, the best this school of 700 can show for the weight, a team which has met team after team of its own weight and victoriously. Our own boys of approximately the same weight and chosen from a group of 19 boys, at times completely smothered their opponents—the score at one time being 10 to 22 in our favor. When the whistle blew at the end of the second half the score was a 22 to 22 tie. In the five minute play-off the visitors took the lead and the final score stood 27 to 25 in favor of the visitors. And the local boys took this narrow defeat when victory seemed certain as calmly and as sportsmanly as one could wish. Thus "one wins even when he loses."

Now these games illustrate what the spirit of the small school can accomplish even when the nature of the thing would seem to indicate the opposite. Certain is the value of these activities in a scheme of secondary training. Let us use this phase of such training to contrast the contribution of the small school against that of the overgrown institution. In the small school such as ours, not only is each individual pupil and teacher vitally interested in the activity but in one way or another directly participates. Every girl, every boy practices with the teams finally chosen to represent the school. In the social affairs attendant on the games every student participates, every one is benefitted. In the large institution only a small select group participate in either the games or the social affairs. The values are entirely lost to the great majority. And this is so in other phases as well.

THE CODE OF A GOOD SPORT

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not alibi.
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a poor loser.
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.
6. Thou shalt not ask odds thou art unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be ready to give thine opponent the shade.

PLAYING THE GAME,

8. Thou shalt not underestimate an opponent, nor overestimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing, and that he who thinketh otherwise is a mucker and no true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest, for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins even when he loses.

The only real tragedy in life is the being used by personally minded men for purposes which you know to be base. All the rest is at worst mere misfortune or mortality: this alone is misery, slavery, hell on earth.

B. C. I. C. DANCE 2M 25D

The Boulder Creek Improvement Club will give another of its popular dances in Middleton's Hall, Saturday evening, February 25th. This time it will take the form of a fancy dress ball and judging by the success of the Club's past efforts will prove a most enjoyable and successful affair.

DRESTI HOME ENTERED

This week after a short absence, Frank Dresti returned home to find that his place had been molested. The windows had been broken by bullets, a heap of smashed dishes covered the floor, a fine blanket had been stolen, a bale of hay and other things were missing Traces of unshod horses hoofs and other signs gave evidence of the intruder. It is hoped that such vandals may be caught and severely punished.

A RUN-AWAY

Mr. Cahill had a run-away, Saturday when he passed the steam shovel. The horses ran into Boulder Creek before they could be stopped. The wagon and harness were broken and Mr. Cahill was bruised cosiderably.

A CORRCTION

In last weeks Community it was stated that Mrs. Mabel Raymond and son Jack were in Boulder Creek visiting the Longleys. It should have read visiting the Livermores.

LOCAL BOYS NARROWLY LOSE FAST CONTEST.

The B.C.U.H.S. boys basketball team demonstrated last Saturday evening that it can travel in the fastest company when in its contest with the Santa Cruz boys the score at the end of the second half stood a 22 to 22 tie. The rules provide for a five minute extra period in which ties are decided and in this extra period the visitors nosed out the home boys by a single goal.

During the entire first half the game was nip and tuck the score at the end of the first half resulting in an 8 to 8 tie. The second half opened with a rush by the Boulder Creek boys which completely smothered the visitors and after a few minutes play the score was 22 to 10 in Boulder Creek's favor but the sending in of Mellott at center and Minildi at forward steadied the Santa Cruz team and for a considerable time the ball swayed back and forth with an occasional goal by Minildi who was unerring in his accuracy at the basket and never failed to convert the few chances he was allowed by the Boulder Creek defense. Thus the score was tied by the end of the second half.

The local boys averaged about three shots to one at the basket over the visitors but our boys superior team play was not quite sufficient to account for the winning point.

The line up follows:

Boulder Creek		Santa Cruz
Leak	Forward	Minildi
Erickson	Forward	Hill
Purinton	Center	Mellott
Hill	Guard	Frost
Johnson	Guard	Martin
J. Funge	Subs	Organ
W. Funge.		French

IMPROVEMENT CLUB MEETS

Mr. A. W. J. Gibbs presided at the meeting of the Boulder Creek Improvement Club in the absence of the president Geo. L. Gordon, who was unavoidably detained by other business.

It was one of the best meetings of the club since its organization and it was regretted that more were not present.

A letter from the Ben Lomond Club was read asking that this Club pass a resolution to favor having the Skyline Boulevard from San Francisco to Santa Cruz pass between here and Big Basin from Saratoga Summit to Bonnie Doon and on down the grade instead of passing to the east of Ben Lomond and connecting with the present highway near Glenwood.

Messrs Isaiah Hartman, George Cress and the Rev. T. Leak were asked to attend the meeting of the Board Supervisors Monday Jan. 30 in interest of lighting the town by the taxation plan.

Some needed improvements were given consideration. Mr. Woodard was instructed to repair the drinking fountain at the Park. The trees of the Park which need pruning will be attended to, and plans were made for the construction of some much needed dressing houses at the swimming pool.

Clean-up day is at a stand still for a few days until a dumping ground can be found. The one under consideration is unavailable but the matter will not be allowed to die and as soon as we can find the ground the cleaning will come.

The Club hopes soon to start work in the Park by the Railroad for an auto park as soon as the lease is arranged for.

A standing committee of Elks was appointed to welcome the Elks to Boulder Creek. Mr. Hartman was chosen chirman and this committee is to consult with the Elks and let them know that we welcome them to Boulder Creek and stand ready to work with them for the betterment of our town which they have chosen as their town also.

The plans for that Paper and Calico dance of the Club are progressing and it promises to be a huge success. Don't fail to get in on this bunch of fun.

We have a very nice article for the P. T. A. received too late for this issue which will be printed next week.

Send Community to distant friends, it is like a letter from home.

A BROWN STUDY

I walk with small John when the woodlot is bare
And shivery with November cold,
We poke the brown leaves and we find here and there
Choice nuggets of real brownies gold.
In his little brown sweater and brown knitted cap
He looks like a stray woodland elf,
And I think as I follow the spry little chap,
That he's kin to the Bownies himself.
Among the brown bushes with devious twists
He dances from basket to tree,
But back to my basket with nuts in his fists
He darts like a homeward-bound bee.
Delightfully dear is the brown of the year,
Gray-shadowed by late autumn skies,
But Mother Earth's gown can flaunt no shade of brown
That compares with my Lover-Boy's eyes.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WIN EASILY

Last Saturday afternoon the B. C. U. H S. girls made good their statement that they would stage a sensational comeback against the team from Watsonville, winning easily by a score of 15 ta 7.

When the two teams faced each other the advantage of the visitors size was so apparent that many did not concede the locals much chance. It was easily apparent however after the first few minutes of play that Boulder Creek was easily outplaying its opponents. This continued throughout the game the result never for a moment being in question.

After the game nearly the entire student body of the high school faculty members, the Watsonville girl's team and the Santa Cruz boys team repaired to the High School and enjoyed a couple of hours of social enjoyment. There was a luncheon and dancing.

THE GEM COUNTY OF CALIFORNIA

(By A. A. Taylor in Santa Cruz Evening News)

Why is? Santa Cruz:
Gem County of California.
Because the Gem County of California is:
Santa Cruz.

A Gem must be small in size. Santa Cruz is the smallest County in California in acres.

A gem must possess both beauty and value.

Travelers concede the super scenic beauty of this section. There is granduer and sublimity in Sierra scenery, but not elsewhere such a blending of all phycical features into a harmonious and picturesque landscape.

Transcendent value is here. Not only visible in crops and rocks and trees, a scenic and climatic value which to this date is largely latent.

A Gem must have polish as well as being inherently a precious stone.

One of the most beautiful lines in descriptive poetry is that by Washington Irving:

"England is studed and gemmed by castles and palaces."

Santa Cruz County is "gemmed" by orchards and vinyards, berry fields and forests, by highways and school buildings.

Every use and association of the word Gem is agreeable and elevating.

New York has profited prodigiously by being known as the Empire State.

California has world wide supremacy as the Golden State.

Why not lift Santa Cruz into a pleasant and profitable National fame as the Gem County of California? It can be done.

———oOo———

NOTE:- Mr. Taylor may not have figured the acreage of San Francisco County, but Santa Cruz is the Gem County just the same.—Ed.

SOME FREEZING WEATHER

For more than a week the Ice King (it was too frigid for Jack Frost) held the San Lorenzo Valley in the same icy grip that has prevailed all along the coast. Except for water pipes, wood-piles and oil supply there does not seem to be the damage done in this community that has followed in other sections. There has been much discomfort among the residents as a result of inability to keep warm and the inconveniences due to bursting water pipes. According to reccords it seems that no such low temperatures have been recorded in Santa Cruz county since way back in the eighties. Let us hope it will be 2080 before we get another.

AN ICE PICTURE

It might be called a nice picture, but it was made of ice so an ice picture is more appropriate. The water pipe which crosses on the railroad bridge a short distance from the Ben Lomond station, to the south—the pipe which carries the water supply to East Ben Lomond—burst nearly the whole length of the bridge and water was thrown from the leaks for a distance of fifteen or twenty feet. All the trees within the space of the water drenched section were covered with a coating of ice during the freezing of the night and in the morning it was a beautiful ice picture until Old Sol erased it.

MRS. N. P. COLE GONE.

Mrs. N. P. Cole, of San Francisco, one of the best known of Ben Lomond visitors, died at her home in the city January 17. Mrs. Cole would have been 89 years old had she lived until July and has been a regular visitor to Ben Lomond for over forty years. She leaves five sons and two daughters to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. The many friends of the family in this community extend sympathy and cherish the tender memories of this venerable visitor whose absence from the throng of visitors will be a source of regret.
